Dear Sir or Madam,
I am disappointed that writing this message is necessary. To contemplate imposing limits on the useful information satellite radio can make available to its subscribers seems to me to be a blatant misguided attempt to stifle competition.

As a subscriber, I choose to pay for programming largely uninterrupted by commercial messages. Many people do and will continue to listen to tradition broadcast radio. Both methods should have equal freedom to broadcast whatever information each wishes.

I respectfully urge you to reject NAB's petition 04-160.

Sincerely,

Wes Norred
